It would have been impossible in this case to proceed by an attachment. The money did not stand in the Bank in the name of Lauts and Heesloop, but as a separate account of Lampe and Rogge, Lauts and Hassloop were not within the jurisdiction of the Cour and serious harm might be done if this money were to be allowed to be withdrawn from the Bank until the legal question as to whether or not the defendants had taken away the use of the ship from the plaintiffs had been settled. It was not denied by the other side that the use of the ship had been taken away. Their excuse was that they had so acted because the plaintiff abad refused to supply coal. The agent here knowing that the ship had been supplied with coal for the round journey paused before advancing another £1,000, but stated, however, that coal must be had it could be supplied with the money in the Bank, which was the guarantee for the payment of the charter, of which the supply of coal, he submitted, was essentially a part. THE SHARE SALES BILL TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS." DEAR SIR,-Supporters of Mr. Keswick's Bill seem never bired of raiterating that the opposition have no arguments but interested ones to bring forward. May I venture through your medium to express some, to me, very strong reasons why the Bill should not become law. These reasons have previously been brought up in course of the discussion, but I do not think have been sufficiently dwelt upon or accentuated considering their importance, and with the usual partiality have been ignored by the supporters. First and foremost is the inadvisability of in any way artificially interfering with the normal condition of the share market, which is governed by its own unwritt-u laws of supply and demand and its exigencies and emergencies: which is very sonsitive, and any one-sided interference with which is not only diametrically. opposed to all principles of political economy, the freedom of contract, and free trade, but will, in attempting to mitigate one ovil. foster andlassothers: chief amongst which is "bulling," which when rampant and unchecked is more a source of ruin to the "swaddling clothed" class of speculators than "bearing" is. Another argument is the savouring of class, not to say porsonal legislation, which is such a strong element in this Bill, and which a good many of its chief supportors make no bones about acknowledging. The depression of an already depressed market which is water, as asked for by the Board. The analysis sure to follow the passing of the Bill, if its conditions are strictly followed, is another reason why it is inadvisable to proceed with it. The the defiltered one at the entrance of No. 8 filter loss of revenue from the diminution of stamps on contract notes and transfer deeds, although a certainty, is a small matter and one that in giew of the larger interests at stake need not be dwelt upon. Thanking you in anticipation for inserting this letter, - Yours faithfully.

CALCUTTA, 8th June. The Senapati in his examinations and written defence endeavours to throw the blame and responsibility for the murders on the Tongal Banks—Hongkong & S'hai. $125 167 General. The trial is proceeding. CALCUTTA, 9th June.

The trial of the Senapati concluded vesterday afternoon. Several witnesses were examined. and the speech of the pleader for the defence, delivered in Hindustani, lasted two hours. The judgment of the Court being prepared, will be Brown & Co., H. G., delivered shortly. The prisoner maintains the Campbell, Moore&Co. same attitude of apparent sulky indifference. The China Borneo trial of the Regent begins to day.

CALCUITA, 10th June. The trial of the Manipur Regent is proceedlag before Col. Michael, the President, Major Ridgeway, and Mr. Davis, members of the Court The prisoner, who is enormously fat, was accommodated with a seat and greatded by the sepoys with fixed bayonets. Although the sittings of the Court are public, no interest in the trial is taken by the people, only one or two Manipuris being present. The defence is conducted by Janeki Babu, and Chandra Sing, a Manipari, who acts as interpreter. The same witnesses were examined as in the Secapati's case. At a meeting held in Shillong, Mr. Ward morial to Mr. Quinton and the officers killed at Manipur. A Committee has been appointed to collect subscriptions.

ALLAHARAD, 10th June. At the Regent's trial among the witnesses was Russick Lall, the head clerk in the Manipur Agency, who, it will be remembered, wrote a letter after the massacre to the Government of India, in which he asserted that the British troops had killed women and children, and in general took the side of the Manipuri insurgents. He new states he could see no women or children, though he went round the Palace grounds, and avers that he wrote the letter in fear of his life. Bamon Charan Makerjee, clerk to the Regent has stated that, on the 21st March, the Chief Commissioner wrote from Sengmai ordering the Regent and his brothers to the durbar. This is important as proving that the summons to the darbar was formally issued, and that the invitation was not given in a casual way as was supposed, when Mr. Quinton met the Regent at 10 clock on the morning of March 22nd. IMPORTANT PREIGHT CONTBACT AT BOMBAY. BOMBAY, 1st June.
